NEWSPAPER WEEK!
Times had its celebration month so we'll announce the and let the matter drop.

POWER OF THE PRESS?
A top executive in the department of a large San Francisco newspaper was driving a race car around the parking lot at Golden Gate Fields. A police officer advised him it was against policy. He insisted on continuing. The track manager was called. He said no race. The executive made several phone calls to no avail, cast some doubt on the "power of the press" . . . at least as far as police are concerned.

FROM THE POLICE bulletin: A small black and white cat ran down the street at 1006 Peralta. It was released as a vehicle had been in contact with same.

International Soroptimist Clubs are classified service groups for business and professional women organized for the advancement of women. Only one representative of a business or a profession is eligible for membership in each city.

The members of the local club have contributed many tangible things to the welfare of our city and its citizens. Among their many activities was the creation of the Senior Center Foundation, which eventually produced our Senior Center, and they also provided the stove and tables used in the building. They held the first senior citizens meeting from which our first senior citizens group was formed.

Through the efforts of Albany Soroptimists, an iron lung and two respirators were purchased for the use of Albany citizens at the Alameda County Hospital (Highland) during the big polio epidemic and are still in use. They have provided the YMCA with a movie and sound projector and a trampoline for the gym, purchased equipment for the Albany High School band, hot food carts for the patients at Albany Hospital and playground equipment for Albany children. Over the years they have helped establish the Eye Bank and are still signing up donors to will their eyes after death into the eye bank; so a blind person might have sight.

They have donated many hours of time and service to United Crusade, Heart Association, Cerebral Palsy, March of Dimes and other projects to raise funds for research. In 1946, Albany Soroptimist Club received a citation from the United States Treasury Department for their cooperation in the War Finance Program. They have contributed to the Girl Scouts by sending several girls to camp each year. They have a scholarship fund and give a scholarship each year continuing, with each recipient, for a three year period.

This year they have taken over operations of the nourishment project providing lunches to needy children in our schools. Bernice Boyd of Security Savings is the 1964-65 president.

Chamber News and Views

By Neal Clarity, Secretary-Manager

No sooner than we complete this year's highly successful Merchants' Bazaar, we are reminded about Christmas decorations.

We feel this is a very worthwhile project and provides not only the Christmas spirit to Albany, but also helps stimulate the business climate.

On January 8, 1964, in my column, you will recall that I said, "Never let it be said that the business and professional men and women in Albany are not doing their share in regards to civic responsibility and contributing to various projects."

The proof was in the pudding and the results spoke for themselves. Last year, 204 business and professional firms and seven service clubs donated $2,107 to make possible those lovely decorations and provide the spirit of Christmas for the residents of Albany.

This year, the retail merchants' division of the Chamber of Commerce, under the leadership of Johnny Pleich, decided to have a gigantic two-month promotion to help pay for the decorations and to stimulate business. That is what we have planned for this year.

The theme for this year's Christmas decorations promotion is, "IT TAKES TWO . . . THE CHAMBER AND YOU!"

We started the ball rolling by putting a little ad in newspapers last week stating our theme and also, "Shop in Albany, win $1,000, beginning Oct. 14." Many phone calls have been received by the Chamber and Norm Willmont of the Times and Red Call of the News Review have been stamped with questions from the citizens of Albany asking about the "gimmick."

Our "gimmick" or promotion as we would prefer to call it is simply this:

1. We, the Chamber of Commerce, want Christmas decorations in Albany.
2. We, the Chamber of Commerce, want to increase the retail sales in Albany.
3. We, the Chamber of Commerce, want citizens to have the Christmas spirit in Albany.

Therefore, we are asking all professional and business people to cooperate with the Chamber of Commerce by purchasing tickets to give their customers. Sale of the tickets will finance the cost of the decorations, provide $1,000 to some lucky person and give the lucky winner an expense-paid weekend for two in Reno, including two cocktail parties, two savory buffet shows at the Nugget, Saturday night show at the Golden, two nights in plush hotels.

Each customer shopping in Albany stores participating in the program will receive a minimum of one ticket for each purchase of $1 or more or when paying bills at one of the professional offices.

Albany Minister Supports School Bond Issue Nov. 3

By Rev. Marshall Luckey, Pastor, Albany First Baptist Church

Abraham Lincoln got his education on a dirt floor, before a fireplace, with the back of a wooden shovel for a slate. Abe did all right. Others could do the same, and some have. For Mr. Lincoln and the others, the primitive surroundings in which they ferreted out an education and learned were not greatly different from the other areas of their every-day lives.

Many youth today have their own well-furnished private rooms, complete with desk, typewriter, radio, record player, TV, etc. Many have their own cars and plump allowances or incomes to raise their standard of living. Society has made all of this possible, for it wishes its children to have the very best. The question continues to be before Albany: Can the young people be expected to do their best in a school situation that is below their living standards in all other areas?

Adult members of our society produced the youth and the standard by which they live. Is it reasonable to assume that having made possible the standard in one area that a lower standard would be acceptable in another area of their development? To refuse to assume the responsibility of providing the standard educational facilities is to invite serious consequences. There is no question that the cost is high and the final results cannot be fully assured. But a concerned community cannot allow itself to do less than all possible.

The home—the church—the school, are the agencies and instruments used in the teaching and training of the youth to prepare them for their adult role in life. To accomplish the best results there must be a willingness to pay the cost at all levels. Cooperation between these agencies is necessary if the task which is placed upon them is to be discharged with hope of success. This can be done through

Uncooked, Unfrozen Salmon, Trout Lethal to Dogs

A warning that many uncooked, unfrozen salmon or trout are lethal to dogs is contained in a report received by the Alameda-Contra Costa Veterinary Medical Association from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington State University.

Death in dogs after eating ocean-caught salmon has been traced to a disease carried by a parasitic fluke. The disease usually occurs in the dog about seven days after the infected fish is eaten. It is recognizable, the statement continued, by emaciation, dehydration and diarrhea, and death finally occurs on about the 12th to 16th day after eating the fish.

The report stated that both cooking and freezing kill the parasitic fluke in fish tissue, making it harmless to the dog.

The warning on uncooked, unfrozen fish is particularly important to East Bay residents, the Alameda-Contra Costa Veterinary Medical Association pointed out, as fluke-infested salmon have been found as far south as San Francisco.

the teamwork of the above-mentioned three-some.

The school bonds have been declared necessary by the elected Board of Education, in order that everything possible might be done in the teaching and training of Albany's youth. A "Yes" vote in November will allow them to proceed in discharging their given responsibilities. With the proposed better facilities, the youth must assume their responsibility in applying themselves in token appreciation to a community willing to invest in their lives. Youth needs to learn value and discipline. The street runs two ways. Traffic must continue to move. The school bonds are important to the forward move of Albany and its young lives.

Ceramics Classes In Adult Education

Several ceramics classes, offered to the enrollment of adults regardless of resident, are scheduled by the Albany Adult School in the Craft Room of Marin School, 1400 Marin Ave.

A class in mosaics, taught by Mrs. Janet Brown, is held from 7-10 on Tuesday evenings. This class covers instructions in making such things as mosaic table tops, murals, wall pictures and plaques, and bird baths.

Mrs. Alice Coffee has two evening and two day classes in pottery and mold making. Her evening classes are taught on Mondays and Wednesdays, 7-10; her day classes are held on Monday and Wednesday mornings, 9-12:15. Students may register for one or more of these four classes.

Those enrolled in Mrs. Coffee's class are taught to make such accessories as candelabra, table lamp bases, bird feeders, post lamps, ash trays, and bells, garden sculptures, tile table tops, and plaques, as well as figurines, bowls and general table pottery.

Introduction To Modern Math

An introductory course in modern math, designed for parents and other adults interested in understanding the current mathematics program at both the elementary and secondary levels, is offered by the Albany Adult School, 603 Key Route Blvd., on Monday evenings, 7-10.

This course, taught by Jack McFarland, teacher at Albany's Marin School, is being offered because many parents and other adults have expressed an interest in the new approach to mathematics.

The fundamental processes of arithmetic will be emphasized, and the principles behind these operations will be explained. Relationships between arithmetic, algebra, and geometry will also be included.

McFarland has taught modern math programs to junior high students and has recently completed a Natural Science Foundation teacher training course in this field.

Varied Commercial Subjects Taught

A well-rounded program in commercial subjects is available during the current quarter of the Albany Adult School, 603 Key Route Blvd. Open to the enrollment of all adults interested, regardless of residence, classes in shorthand, typing, business machines, and bookkeeping are scheduled evenings only, and each of them from 7 to 10.

Gregg shorthand for beginners is held on Wednesdays; for those taking dictation at various levels, Mondays.

Typing for beginners is offered on Tuesdays and Thursdays, and those enrolled may attend on a once or a twice-a-week basis. Intermediate and advanced typing students are assigned to the Monday classes.

Thanks For Writing . . .

Editor, the Times:

What happened at the U.C. campus over this past weekend should make every red blooded American sit up and take notice. To think that a mob of "civilized" (and I use the word loosely) students could so disrupt the lives and liberty of most level-headed students on the campus by use of such "extreme" tactics, should be a very sobering thought to every voter in the November election. We have a most urgent need to put a man in the White House, namely Senator Barry Goldwater, who can and will bring about a new respect for law and order in this land of ours. In your heart you know he can.

More than 500 police officers were on the scene to restore law and order to the U.C. campus at a cost of $3,000 (taxpayers dollars) each hour, since all officers used were on overtime. Officers estimated that the total cost for one evening may have run as high as $10,000. This does not take into account the repairs on the damaged police car. This is your money and my money.

The only comforting action I saw during this entire "nightmare" was a picture in the Oakland Tribune showing one lone student in the midst of the mob holding a sign which read, "This demonstration does not represent the majority of Berkeley students." How refreshing to see a fine young man stand up and be counted, when I suppose the popular thing to do would be to follow the crowd. This is a mark of a true leader and into his hands and millions more like him, I place with confidence the future of our great and wonderful country.

Sincerely,
MRS. RUTH CHESTER

David N. Robinson Elected President of CREA

David N. Robinson of Berkeley was elected president of the California Real Estate Association for 1965. He was installed in office at a meeting of the association in San Francisco early in January. Robinson began his real estate career in 1946, and is the president of the David N. Robinson Company, with two offices in Berkeley, and one in Walnut Creek. He is currently regional vice president of District 1 (Alameda County) and on the 10-man executive committee for the association. A list of activities include his position as president of the Berkeley Board in 1956, and named "Realtor of the Year 1964." He is currently chairman of the East Bay Real Estate Council. Robinson has headed many committees during the year for CREA, including this office administration conference held at University of California at Berkeley, and University of Southern California. He also been an instructor

Meat Stores Offer 'Only 19' Promotion

Consumers who want to clean up their playing a new game. It's "Only 19" and it's going to be fifty people $1,500 each year. "Only 19" cards are distributed in retail food stores here and throughout the state from October 19 through November 31. The fifty winning cards will be those on which the number 19 doesn't wash off. "Only 19" game has been used by the retail food industry to let you know just how you're eating these days. Average American family pays only 19 cents out of each dollar on food; in Russia the percentage jumps to over 50 per cent. $1,500 award for the fifty consumers represents the average cost of a year's supply of food in the United States. A great way to learn a little about food that's not all—if three of the cards, after washing, bear numbers that add up to 19—you win $117... that's the average cost of one month's supply of food. Statistics can be fun.

of the University of California in its Real Estate Extension Dept.

Robinson was born in New York, and came to San Diego at an early age. He received a Bachelor of Science degree from the University of California at Berkeley, majoring in business administration. His family includes his wife, Chere, and four daughters, Diane and Judy, who are attending college, and Sue and Terry, who are in junior high and grammar school.

Elected directors at large were two Solano Avenue realtors: Jerome Blank of 1530 Solano and LeRoy B. Gardner of 1797 Solano.

Elections took place during the 60th annual convention in San Francisco.

Police Chief Ralph Jensen

I SUPPORT MEASURE B for Albany schools because I believe Albany has had two crying needs for many years. Previously, I gave top priority to city buildings, which are now almost a reality, thanks to Albany voters. Many city employees were reluctant before this election to work for schools when they needed new quarters so desperately themselves. This feeling is gone today. We are now willing to work for what in our estimation is Albany's second great need: a safe, adequate high school plant. I have accepted the chairmanship of Albany City Employees for Measure B and I urge all my fellow city employees and my friends to join me in voting yes on Measure B on Nov. 3.

Realtor Blank Speaks for Proposition 14

Albany Realtor Jerome Blank was guest speaker last Thursday morning at a special assembly of about 300 law students at Boalt Hall on the University of California campus.

Blank debated the "yes" side of Proposition 14. A graduate student, who substituted for the announced speaker, argued for the "no" side.

On Friday night, Blank appeared in a debate at St. John's Episcopal church in Corte Madera in Marin county. His opponent was Richard Adams, an attorney.

According to Blank, he stressed the following arguments in both cases: A yes vote will restore to property owners the right to manage their property without undue government process; it will restore our right to a jury trial, and will eliminate FEPC hearings, where FEPC acts as investigator, prosecutor and jury.

BIG THEFT

Two 19-year-old Albany youths were caught by Albany police after a man reported they had taken a manhole cover on Perta. In addition to the theft, they were cited for having an open container of alcoholic beverage in the car, which was impounded. Sgt. Glenn Thompson and Officer Robert Buck decided to replace the manhole cover for safety reasons, also figured the 200-pound, two and a half foot in diameter cover "would be very awkward to handle as evidence."

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE BY RECKAS FRIDAY

Albany's N. P. Reckas will be featured in an illustrated lecture, "Beautiful Hell—Death Valley, California," under the auspices of Albany Post 2658, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at Berkeley Little Theater at 8:15 p.m. Friday night.

Kent D. Pursel, chairman of the Alameda County Board of Supervisors, will introduce the speaker. An organ prologue will be presented through arrangements with Sherman Clay company of Albany. Doors open about 7:30 p.m.

In 1935 while a member of the late Dr. William Fredrick Bader's archeological expedition to Palestine for the Pacific School of Religion, Berkeley, Reckas was introduced to the desert. Here were the spiritual scenes of the ages. This was the home of the prophets. This was the birthplace of one of the greatest creeds in the history of mankind. Here man walked in loneliness and found in the emptiness of the vast sands the companionship of the Great Unknown.

Approximately 10 years ago, Reckas' interest was re-kindled and he decided to compare Death Valley, Calif. with the great Palestine Desert. The geological aspects of Death Valley, he has left to the geologists. Instead, his return to the desert time after time, season after season, has been primarily to capture on film the most of the canyons and the parched salt flats.

In one instance, a series of pictures taken over a 24-hour period shows the impendence, then the storm sweeping over the passes and into Death Valley. Soon arise the eddies of whirlwinds; then the actual birth of four separate storms, maturing into blasts of sand and clouds, spattering against the Funeral Mountains east of the Valley. As the storms subside, the settling sand particles screen the horizon. The afterglow of the setting sun turns the sky fiery red. Next morning the rising sun once more filters through the sand particles still suspended in the atmosphere, and the morning glow is the same. These are a set in a series of sequence pictures which make the illustrated lecture outstanding.

Reckas explores the canyons by himself. Thirst becomes the pressing problem. Rationing of water, knowledge and distance to the next spring are considered factors. The problem of wild life, on the other hand, is minor since

OBITUARIES

REIDE E. POLGLASE

Rosary was recited at 8 o'clock Oct. 2 at the Ellis-Olson Mortuary for Reide E. Polglase, longtime local resident who died at an Albany hospital after suffering a heart attack. He was 52, a native of Spokane, Wash.

Mr. Polglase, who made his home at 2642 Tassajara Ave., El Cerrito, had been in El Cerrito since 1939 and an East Bay resident for the past 45 years.

He was a member of Machinists' Local 68 and worked for the Anchor Equipment Co. of San Francisco.

Survivors include his widow, Mildred; sons Jerrold and Ronald, both of Richmond, and sisters Mrs. Barbara Nichols of Oakland and Mrs. Betty Van Sickle of Alaska.

Funeral services were at 9 a.m. Oct. 3 at the Ellis-Olson Chapel, followed by Requiem Mass at St. David's Catholic Church in Richmond. Burial took place at St. Joseph's Cemetery, San Pablo.

MRS. LENA LEONE

The remains of Mrs. Lena Leone, 63, a prominent El Cerrito resident who died Oct. 5, while vacationing in Hawaii, were forwarded to the Ellis-Olson Chapel in Albany where the Rosary was recited at 8 p.m. Thursday.

A Requiem High Mass was surged at St. Jerome's Catholic Church at 9 a.m. Oct. 9, with the cortege leaving the Ellis-Olson Chapel at 8:30 p.m. The concluding prayer was in St. Joseph's Mausoleum.

Family members asked that memorials be made to the St. Ignatius High School building fund, 222 Stanyan St., San Francisco.

Mrs. Leone, whose home was at 336 Coronado St. in El Cerrito, was the widow of the late Louis Leone, a pioneer El Cerrito resident who died in 1961. He was the owner of the Golden Gate Stucco Co. and one of the founders of the Cerrito City Club.

She was a native of San Jose but had been a long time resident of El Cerrito. She was a member of St. Jerome's Catholic Church, Assisi Unit, Catholic Charities, Auxiliary, and St. Jerome's Guild.

Mrs. Leone is survived by a son, Robert, of Lafayette, and six grandchildren.

SENIOR CITIZENS
846 Masonie

By Emma Claymore

The regular monthly meeting of Albany Senior Citizens was held Oct. 7. A good crowd was present and many matters relating to the center were discussed after the reading of the minutes by Secretary Cecelia Chilton and the reading of the treasurer's report by John Kampe. Margaret Longpre gave her report as purchasing agent for the culinary department.

Grace Bryan, Minnie Ingraham and Margaret Longpre had attended a meeting of the Co-ordinating Council of Senior Citizens at Mosswood Park on Oct. 6.

Grace Bryan gave a short report on what had been done. Among things the council is trying to accomplish is lower transit fares for seniors. They are planning a joint meeting some time in November. There will be a speaker and a social time.

A check for $25 was received from the family of the late Mary Moiso in appreciation for kindness shown by the Seniors.

Members agreed that it would be fitting to purchase something for the center that would be a lasting memorial to her memory.

AHS Students Learning To Drive Safely

Students at Albany High School will be learning safe driving techniques again this year in a program of classroom study and behind-the-wheel driver training. The course consists of study of traffic rules and sound driving practices as well as on-the-road supervised training in automobiles equipped with AAA dual controls.

Jim Woulfe Ford, Inc., is loaning a 1965 Ford to the school for use in the program. The dual controls are supplied at cost by the California State Automobile Association.

Harry J. Price, principal, announced that John Ingram is instructor for the class. Each student receives a minimum of six hours of actual behind-the-wheel driving instruction. He must also complete a course in driver education in which he studies the physical laws as well as the man-made laws affecting the operation of a motor vehicle.

The California State Automobile association points out that in addition to teaching the skill and knowledge necessary to drive a car, the course is designed to develop in young people a sense of responsibility for safe driving. Also included in the course are topics such as the psychology of the driver, care and maintenance of an automobile and the problems of highway development and traffic management.

Last year some 262,000 students in California completed a course in the classroom phase of driver education and 157,000 received behind-the-wheel driver training.

MORAL CRISIS

Barry Goldwater says: "Americans everywhere are indignant about the moral decay in Washington and nobody should accept corruption in positions of public trust as a way of life. All it takes to clean it up is an administration that really wants it cleaned up—an administration with the moral courage to fire the influence peddlers and graft takers no matter whose friends they may be."

Alberito Art Show Winners Announced by Chairmen

Albany artists were in close competition at the recent Alberito Club of Business and Professional Women's Art Show and Wine Tasting event. Winners were selected by the balloting of those present.

Marion Wootten of 1226 Brighton Ave., Albany, won first prize of $15 for her "Monterey Cypress." Carol L. Fell of 140 Wilson St., No. 59, Albany, placed second with "Hallway of Hallucinations" and received the $10 prize. Charles B. Lyon of 709 Pierce Street, Albany, won third place with a new medium of oil on plywood and was awarded $5 for "Nereid."

Each of the 25 pictures submitted was enjoyed by those who spent the congenial hours with wine tasting and art viewing. Albany Policewoman Badge 1, Sigrid Oakley, was the lucky winner of the original oil by California artist Lowell Davenport, now of Aptos. Davenport was the top winner of Alberito club's art show last year and generously donated a seascape, "La Selva Beach," this year.

May Ellis Olson, chairman, and Jean Y. Petersen, president of Alberito club, thank all the talented artists who exhibited their work. All had merit and the selection was difficult. The paintings were
